

Exactly Gaussian posteriors: the null test

With a perfect score gauss_jacobian must TIE gauss_hierarchical - the Tweedie construction reduces to the pilot form algebraically.
With an imperfect score the pilot wins slightly: a constant covariance is the right answer here, and averaging it beats differentiating a noisy network.

